Professor Feedback from the previous deliverable.

Post the deliverable 2 presentation, we received feedback from the professor which is mentioned here:

- 1: Feedback should be presented in bullet points.
- 2: Presentation designer's name should be mentioned.
- 3: Photos in personas should be from an Open source.
- 4: Acceptance Criteria should be renamed to User Stories in Excel.
- 5: The issue type needs to be replaced with the User Story key.
- 6: Few User Stories should be explained and not all of them.
- 7: Test cases ID should be replaced with User Story ID.
- 8: Sprint backlog should be presented before the next sprint.
- 9: User Story and Task symbols should be corrected in Jira.
- 10: Demo Should be a part of the Sprint review.
- 11: 'Next sprint schedule' slide should be presented before the 'stories completed' slide.
- 12: Team members' velocity chart (GitHub) is not needed in the presentation.
- 13: Retrospective should be improved (What went well, what didn't go well and next steps).
- 14: Stories planned for Sprint-3 are not needed in the Sprint-2 presentation.
- 15: The sprint-2 schedule should be presented in a tabular form instead of a screenshot.

Problem Statement

Home services are an age-old concept. The “old way” of availing local home services was for servicemen (“handymen”) to market themselves through word of mouth, and then to use listing services such as Yelp. Local home services are inherently disorganized, with individuals usually running business operations. Services range from carpentry, plumbing, beauty, laundry, and so on. Think of anything you need in your home, that can’t be solved by buying a product. That is likely going to be solved by home services.

The trouble is, home services are not a commodity.

The core reason why people continued to rely on word of mouth after bad experiences, was because it was impossible to tell what you were getting into, even for something as “basic” as plumbing. How do you know the carpenter is good, or the plumber will do a good job? Sure, the industry is ripe for disruption, but how would it get disrupted?

Project Description

The “EasyWay” web application aims to aggregate utility services such as beauty, electrical maintenance, home cleaning, pest control, etc. The application would enable the end-user to select their preferred service, book an appointment at a convenient time, pay the resultant charge and give feedback. The application aims to be a one-stop shop that caters to all the utility needs of the end user. Our product promises easy booking and cancellation without extra charges, and you can maintain your booked services in one place easily.

A photograph of three people in an office environment. On the left, a woman with long dark hair is looking down at a laptop screen. In the center, a man with short blonde hair is smiling and looking towards the right. On the right, a man with glasses and a beard is resting his chin on his hand, looking directly at the camera. They are all seated at a desk with papers and a computer monitor. The background shows shelves with books and plants.
